PROFILE

Andrea joined the Hopscotch Children's Therapy Centre team in January 2025. Under the mentorship and guidance of Dimitrios Mylonadis, Andrea brings a wealth of experience and passion for supporting children and young people with special educational needs (SEN).

About Andrea:

Andrea holds a Bachelor of Science in Occupational Therapy, is HCPC registered, and is a proud member of the Royal College of Occupational Therapists. She came to us from a SEND school where she was an Occupational Therapist, managing a diverse caseload of 140 students. Her role includes one-on-one interventions, group sessions, and collaborating with educators to incorporate occupational therapy principles into the curriculum.

With her extensive experience, Andrea has become highly skilled in supporting children with various needs, including Autism Spectrum Condition (ASC), ADHD, sensory processing challenges, and developmental delays. She's dedicated to providing individualised, holistic care that empowers both families and educators with the tools and strategies to support children's development at home and school.

Andrea's professional training includes:

- Sensory Integration
- Developmental Coordination
- The Zones of Regulation framework

Her commitment to ongoing professional growth ensures she remains at the forefront of occupational therapy practices, delivering effective and tailored support to each child.

At Hopscotch, we believe Andrea's experience, training, and passion will make a significant impact on the children we work with. Her approach to therapy, focusing on holistic care and collaboration, aligns perfectly with our mission to help children reach their full potential.
